Limassol, 8th of May 2016

Workshop Overview

1- Introduction

Coaching your patients is central to the sustained achievement of your business growth and personal development.

Skilled and focused, you play an essential role to elevate your relation with your patient and your both performance to high levels. It also addresses individual factors that influence personal effectiveness

2- Benefits

- Be able to use properly the necessary steps to conduct a collaborative feedback session that builds confidence and competence
- Increased confidence in the ability to review/evaluate
- Focuses on achieving specific patient goals to build on recognized strengths within a set time frame
- Develop a better understanding of the areas of your patient development

3- Objectives

- Identify potential opportunities and issues and apply solutions
- Provide the appropriate type of mentoring considering the relationship and the competence needed
- Provide guidelines to help you fulfill the evaluation and mentoring role as a Specialist in Nutrition

4- Format and documentation

A comprehensive program that uses question-and-answer sessions and role-play exercises to give each delegate a substantial body of information and the opportunity to discuss matters of particular concern. A seminar manual will be provided for each participant. It is designed to be a practical workbook and a continuing source of reference.
